SUMMA EDWARDS BIOGRAPHY

Summa Edwards, an Australian national and Adelaide local, has moved back home after a successful 8 years in the USA as a model, actress and tennis professional. Summa's feet barely touched the ground when she was given the co-hosting role on Channel Nine Adelaide's "Feeling Good" Program and the offers started coming in for various television commercials, MC and comparing roles. Summa has had experience in various print, television, commercial and tourism advertising campaigns and also possesses a strong theatre background.

It bears to note that Summa has a wealth of relevant expertise in several occupational fields including health and wellness, advertising and marketing, film and television, high fashion and styling.

Working in a designer fashion boutique for several years has added to Summa's vast experience in this field. This has allowed her to deal directly with some of Australia's top fashion designers and as a result her passion for the industry is unsurpassed. Summa also welcomed her first child, Zoe, into the world in 2010 and is currently enjoying life as a mother and the many joys of parenthood. As a former tennis professional she is now coaching people of all ages and abilities.

Summa had a cameo role in the Australian Film "Beautiful" alongside Deborra-Lee Furness and Aaron Jeffery. She is also an excellent MC and with her background in fashion is a popular choice to host parades. Summa has recently been the MC for The Melbourne Cup Luncheon for Channel 9, The Semaphore Music Festival, The Tour Down Under Gourmet Gala, The Unley Way to Go and Westfield Shopping Centres.

Summa's achievements were honored in Crown Content's 'Who's Who in South Australia,' featuring notable South Australians who embody the spirit of the state and have significantly contributed to its growth and development.
